Better Communication - May 2010

Did I Hit A Nerve?

We're constantly bombarded by negative images and thoughts. The way to combat this, especially in our businesses, is to blast out our own positive ones. I don't mean taking a Pollyanna view of the world and ignoring challenges. I don't mean spin or hype, either. I mean genuinely compelling and interesting stories about your business. Stories that highlight the great products, services and most importantly, results, you provide your customers.

What would you want to read? A story about how someone solves a problem, or one that stresses complaints and blames others? I know what my preference is.

I'm not alone, either. I really hit a nerve with my last email blast "Enough With The Negative." I had so many positive emails and in-person comments about my rant that I simply had to share some of them.

- "Yes to the sentiment! Accentuate the positive! Eliminate the negative! And don't mess with Mr. In-between!" - Donna Loraine Contractor, Tapestry Artist
- "I totally agree with you! Good message!" - Brian Morris, Executive Director, Downtown Action Team
- "Good message! Thanks!" Steve Hoberg, Owner, Glass Rite
- "Hear, hear. I love life and what you do for me." Scott Chazdon, Owner, Maintenance & More Automotive Specialists
- "Amen, sister!" Mary Ellen Merrigan, Merrigan Group
- "Good work on the Soap Box!" Pat Forbes, Artist
- "Bravo sister! I agree! Don't let it in!" Sherri Garrity, Chief Corporate Fugitive

Let's tell your great stories together - on your website, in a press release to the media or a newsletter to your customers.

Workin with Ke on our newsle and social media marketi has been a true pleasure. Kelly delivers-on time-always. She's intelligent knows her way around town and the cyberworld. Our contract is winding up this month, but her services have been so incredible we've happily decided to continue the relationship. I highly recommend Kelly's services.

(Teri's shy, but the photo really is of her as a little girl.)
