Better Communication - September 2010

We're just back from a great road trip to see family in Minnesota. And because of that, this newsletter is late. Or maybe it's an early Labor Day Weekend wishes email? Your pick!

This is also a great time to tell you what I did this summer. Remember that long ago "here's what's on my summer to do list" email? Yep, summer's coming to an end. Here's what I did:

- Saw Lyle Lovett , the last concert at this historic venue. What a perfect evening.
- Visited family, friends and the best state fair ever in Minnesota. Four words: Butter flavored lip balm.
- Surprisingly, didn't spend any cash at the International Folk Art Market .
- Attended the Sculptural Objects & Functional Art exhibition. Didn't spend cash there, either.
- Saw theater often. Looking forward to even more as the fall season begins.

That pile of vacation laundry prevents me from telling you more. Except to have a wonderful, restful weekend full of cookouts, family and friends!

Success!

Kelly is able to quickly and easily expand basic concepts based on the limited amount of input we provide. She can take a single sentence and create an article in short order. She's also very thorough and detail oriented, and provides all the heavy lifting for all our complex projects and articles. She's able to change the audience and tone to meet the needs of our diverse projects, too. Kelly has a diverse set of writing skills that include marketing, advertising, technical, social, etc. and she always follows through and delivers on time.

Free Tip!

Know your audience. Where do they hang out online? Facebook is great for retailers and those whose message needs to reach the general consumer. LinkedIn is the purview of business folks looking to network. Twitter's a free for all. Choose the social media application that allows you to target your market where it is.
